

Our visitors tend to forget where they are.

From the moment you arrive in Richmond's Historic Fishing Village of Steveston, you may well forget where you are. Are you strolling Steveston's boardwalk with its quaint shops and restaurants, or are you off the coast of Maine? Are you whale-watching off Richmond's coast or in the middle of the Pacific Ocean? Truth is, you're here. In a place you're bound to remember and possibly never forget. Steveston: what a place.

We want our visitors to get lost.

It's no wonder our visitors lose themselves in a place where lions dance, jade jewels gleam and exotic aromas fill the air. You think you're in the far east, but you're here, in the Golden Village. Foreign and fascinating, illuminating and lively. Located in the heart of Richmond, it's an Asian Mecca of markets, shops, people, culture and flavour. Come – get lost in the culture of The Golden Village.

Our locals tend to be overly dramatic.

The residents are dramatic. The art, innovative. The festivals are lively and the exhibits: engaging. Peruse an art gallery or take in a live performance at the theatre. Take part in a meditation class at the Buddhist temple, or browse artifacts at a museum or national historic site. From public art to multicultural displays, your visit to Richmond, British Columbia is bound to be dramatic.

With over 90 parks to choose from and 80 km of interconnecting trails, it's no wonder our visitors are busy being busy. Go bird watching, fly that kite, pack a picnic or cycle along the dyke. Cast a rod, play some golf or throw die at the casino. Take a serene forest walk or launch a shopping marathon. Here, being a busy body is not only acceptable, it's encouraged.

Our visitors can be rather picky.

Nothing beats freshness like picking your own pumpkin or purchasing produce from a local veggie stand or choosing a salmon right off the boat. Fresh locally grown produce, fish and fruit are more than a pleasure to pick here in Richmond, British Columbia, they're a pleasure to eat. From agricultural activities to outdoor adventures, our rural scene is an experience you'll inevitably savour.
